27 YEARS OF SERVICE

Lorene Bryan Roberson retires from EGH & NH

Lorene (Bryan) Roberson is retiring from the hospital in 1967, Lorene undertook the duties of administrative assistant while continuing to serve as supervisor in the hospital's business office.

Wednesday afternoon, June 20, friends and co-workers gathered in the hospital's lounge to honor Lorene and to express their gratitude for the many years of dedication to the healthcare facility.

Mrs. Roberson began her service with EGH on July 1, 1963 even before the facility was set into place. She was employed as business office manager and coordinated the activities of "opening day" when the hospital was placed into service. That was on August 11, 1963.

In the words of her co-workers, "Not only will Elba General Hospital and Nursing Home be losing a key employee, the City of Elba and Coffee County is losing a valuable citizen."

When the nursing home was added to the hospital in 1967, Lorene undertook the duties of administrative assistant while continuing to serve as supervisor in the hospital's business office.

Upon retirement, Lorene will be moving to Brundidge, Alabama where she will reside with her husband, Kyle. They will spend the first few months of retirement "fixing up" their new home.

The hospital opened with 28 beds and a medical staff consisting of three doctors with support nursing staff.

The council members will review the state statute governing airport authorities and take the matter up at a later meeting.

Major Fred Moore told council members they hoped to have the Caroline Street bridge open this week. He explained that he was unable to get FEMA officials to increase their funds for the repair and therefore the city crews would be doing the work.

Moore explained that the federal officials thought the plans Elba used for bidding had to much beautification added by the state highway department engineers. All they wanted to make was necessary repairs to make the road passable.

The mayor said that hopefully the cost will not exceed what was requested by the federal agency. If repair cost exceed the allocated amount, the additional funds must come from city generated funds.

Moore noted that people hauling

City votes committee to plan fund use

The Elba City Council voted Monday night to appoint a committee to study ways to spend over forty thousand dollars deposited in the Elba Flood Relief Fund.

The council voted to name a committee to consider a need that would beautify the city, library, etc., using of the funds "to benefit everyone".

The council voted that to divide the $40,758.83 among them, they expected to apply for the money wouldn't give any family but about $60 or $70 each. Using the funds for a citywide project would benefit everyone, including those local citizens who didn't have active water damage.

The council was questioned by Fernin Cox about people who might have sent their money to help individuals and not a government project. They then amended their action from giving the money to individual contributors who requested it after the council announced their plans for the funds.

Councilman John Sharpless responded to the suggestion people offered their money back said that after the city announces their beautification plans, the people may all approve our ideas (and not want their money back).

Jim Driscoll and Barry Brunson addressed the council concerning a proposal to establish an airport authority to administer, maintain and upgrade the local Carl Folsom Airport.

Driscoll noted that the facility was considered a dead airport prior to the flood, but now it is unusual to see multi-engine aircraft coming in and out of Elba. He said they were also purchasing gasoline locally, thus helping the airport financially.

"A good looking, attractive airport attracts pilots," Driscoll said. He added that there are now 26 aircraft which use the local airport "home".

The council members will review the state statute governing airport authorities and take the matter up at a later meeting.

Major Fred Moore told council members they hoped to have the Caroline Street bridge open this week. He explained that he was unable to get FEMA officials to increase their funds for the repair and therefore the city crews would be doing the work.

The one piece of property mentioned is zoned business and Moore said he was hesitant to rezone from commercial to residential thus removing a potential site for businesses to serve the Elba citizens.

Council members agreed to take the matter under advisement and meanwhile assist the man in finding other available property.

Police Chief Freddie Hanchey reported the police department has responded to 140 complaints during the last two weeks. These included five break and enter and 15 traffic citations. The animal control officer picked up 38 dogs during the same period.

Commission contracts with firm to sell bonds for jail

The Coffee County Commission voted to contract with Murray Vining, a representative of Howard-Well, Labouisse, Friedrichs, Inc., to sell the bonds for funding the new county jail. They are an investment securities firm located in Montgomery.

Commission Chairman Billy Eagerton, in reviewing the proposal with the commission, stated that the firm's fee for selling the bonds would be $23,000 on $2 million worth. The payment on this amount will be approximately $190,000 annually.

Low bid on the county jail was $2,456,000. It is estimated, that after the jail is completed and furnished, the total cost will be between $2.6 - $2.7 million. This will mean that the county will have to come up with an additional $650,000 initially upon completion of the facility.

Funds to repay the bond issue will probably come from the fees collected from the recently approved increases in court costs, a portion of the sales tax collected from the county and from the general fund. A firm method of repayment will be decided upon when the commissioners meets with the firm selling the bonds and all options are examined.

Commission Chairman Billy Eagerton, in reviewing the proposal with the commission, stated that the firm's fee for selling the bonds would be $23,000 on $2 million worth. The payment on this amount will be approximately $190,000 annually.

Approximately $200,000. The estimated total cost to perform the restoration process was $300,000.

Coffee County Engineer Mark Pool and his wife, Linda, suggested that 11 county roads remained closed due to flood damage and he also informed them that the bridge on the Bellwood Road was now under construction.

Pool asked for and received approval to pay the county's bridge crew (4 men) to receive overtime pay.

A resolution by the commission, requesting the legal section of the county's County Commissioners Association to file a suit against the damming of gullies on many right-of-ways was requested. Pool stated that the association had the resources to draft such a law with some teeth in it and that this was urgently needed in Coffee County.

Other action taken by the commission was as follows:

State Troopers install camcorders in cars

Video cameras are providing to be a valuable tool in the Department of Public Safety's DUI enforcement program.

Beginning in late January, 24 cameras were installed in state trooper patrol cars and used to record suspected drunk drivers on the road and in off-the-road areas.

Early reports from state troopers using the cameras show that during April, 73 percent of DUI defendants pleaded guilty in cases where video tape was available as evidence. Prior to receiving the cameras, troopers stated that only 10 to 20 percent of DUI defendants pleaded guilty before they were placed into service.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

We have done pretty good controlling our fussing since March 17th. We have tried to write everything in a positive manner or not write it at all. There have been a couple of times we just didn't write something because it was so negative and we felt there was enough negative from the flood itself. Now either our nerves are getting frayed or the politicians are just being politicians . . . or both. This deals with the money donated to Elba for the flood victims. There is $40,758.83 in an Elba bank account right now, according to a statement at the Elba city council meeting Monday night. We know some of this money was intended for people with flood problems, in fact we actually handed part of it to city officials on behalf of some good Christian folks, with a verbal promise that was how it was going to be used. Well the city council voted Monday night to appoint a committee to find a use for the money "to beautify the city and this will help everyone". They acknowledged it might be a long time before they figured out what to beautify but would be looking, and holding the funds. Folks, to those of you we assured over the telephone or in person that the money sent to the city, earmarked "Elba Flood Relief Fund", would get to the people, we apologize. We were assured by Mayor Fred Moore repeatedly that the money would go to those who were flooded. In fact we reported at one time that the committee handling the money in the Governor's Disaster Relief Fund would also monitor and/or approve the distribution of this money. We were told in a meeting and in the presence of a lawyer for the Alabama Banker's Association! But it ain't gonna happen, 'cause the political types say that little dab of money won't do you, the flood victim, any good.

Councilman John Sharpless said making something pretty would help everyone. How do we convey to a family trying to buy groceries and/or farming bankruptcy that their $60 or $70 on those flowers or a new city building will help anyone? We kinda showed ourself at the meeting, but it didn't do any good. The vote was unanimous. However after they have come up with their plan, they did "promise" that those who donated will be given a chance to ask for their money back. We wonder how much of that $40,000 would have been given just to help make the town of any flood victims pretty again? Councilman Bill Brunson noted after the meeting that he had not had one person contact him with the opinion that the money should go to the people. Maybe the flood victims don't want the money or maybe those families who lost everything in the flood don't want to make an issue of something that will net less than $100 each. To us it is the principle of the matter. The money was intended to help those whose homes suffered in the flood and you'd need every penny of it. Distribution is long overdue. We feel very strongly about this matter and hope your reaction can convince city officials to reconsider. Either we are out of touch with the people of Elba or our city officials are out of touch . . . and we don't think it is this time. Your elected Elba city officials are: Mayor Fred Moore and council members Randy Bedsole, Bill Brunson, Donald Lawrence, John W. Sharpless and Gladys Yelverton. If you can't find them nor their telephone numbers, give us a call. We know where to find the numbers. If that fails, they officially meet again July 9 at city hall. The time is 5:15 p.m.

We slipped off fishing again late last Thursday afternoon. In fact it was after six before we left the office. We had been there about thirty minutes when up motors a "friend". He was making small talk and we noted right quick he had read our fishing comments of last week's paper. This made us swell a bit and our mind was jumping for some tidbit of fishing info we could whisper to him. But he didn't ask us any fishing advice! It was apparent we were not catching any fish but we feel a bit insulted. The first question was about water on the lake being flat or did it follow the curve of the earth. Well we had a good answer for that one, but soon our friend got to showing his knowledge of the bible and asking, "reckon how (some certain) bible character knew the world was round when the scholars for many years later still contended the earth was flat?" He hit us with a few questions like that and motored off, leaving us confused and still not catching any fish to brag about! We think we saw a slight grin on his face as he disappeared off into the setting sun.

If you didn't get your favorite candidate nominated in the primaries which ended Tuesday, have faith . . . you can always vote against someone in November. We don't really believe in voting against, but there have been times when it seemed the best thing to do. Maybe not this time however, 'cause we probably all got the candidate we liked best.

The powerful earthquake that hit Iran last week and killed thousands and thousands of people was terrible. True to form, an anti-American newspaper, Jomhuri Islami writes "criminal role of America in Iran's past became evident once again in the recent earthquake". We ain't sure how we caused that earthquake but guess they know what they are writing about. The paper also editorially urged that Iran refuse any aid from the United States. More level heads rule the country however and they are quite correct in taking help wherever it can be found.

Have A Happy And Safe 4th!

WE GET LETTERS

Dear Ferrin:

It is with warmth and humility that I write to say how much I enjoy reading "Brainstorms" and other sections of THE CLIPPER. This is my main source of information about "our town", and seldom do I not feel a tug of the heart strings as I read through it, especially reading that Art Brunson, Claude Dorsey, Lesley Ham and others Harper graduated from the University on May 12. My memories of these young adults are frozen in time, as I recall each engaging in those behaviors typical of young children, which each of them was when I was their school principal those fifteen years ago.

Following the flood, I drove several loads of food and cleaning supplies into Elba and unloaded at friends and family. I longed then to help those suffering in the flood aftermath, but that old nemesis and friend, time was never on my side. Consequently, I drove away each time, having seen only a few. I feel sorry for the teacher of these young adults as they stand about the devastating experience, and I understand that they are frozen in time, as I recall each engaging in those behaviors typical of young children, which each of them was when I was their school principal those fifteen years ago.

In reading the letter from Ms. Lynn Sewell, I have a few answers to her questions as well as a few things I would like for her to know.

As I entered my education some twenty years ago, I recall how I came to this decision. My models were men such as Mr. Elmer Taylor, Mr. Roland Powell, the late Charles Jackson, Mr. George Grider, and Mr. Canny Key. They proved to be educated educators. These men and women gave me many other men and women to make the best years of their adult lives to make it possible for the youth of Elba to have an education.

I urge those who care about elementary and secondary education to encourage the people of the University of Alabama and Auburn, to voice before casting a vote for Paul Hightower. Sincerely,
Steven T. Wilson

Dear Editor:

I am among those who feel sad that the "Great Flood of '90" will be remembered as a natural disaster which spelled the end of the building of a better life for only we but many of our parents, such as my mother, the late Betty Braswell Bruce, attended classes, Time and progress marches on and the welfare of our children must take precedence over our emotional attachment to the buildings and familiar landscapes. The same holds true for children. Though we adults may feel and argue about the best among so many alternatives we are faced with, we have entrusted those decisions to a group of our peers who give many needless hours weighing alternatives and asking God's help in arriving at the best action for the students.

The same openness in government that encouraged Elba citizens over the years to participate in local government and to help build the nurturing atmosphere of community that has communicated to Elba's young people a feeling of worthiness continues to be evident in reports of citizen's comments before the Board of Education recently. That the Board of Education is the concern of boys and girls of Elba is the concern of all. We should therefore continue to let these five men and women know of our grave stakes in the wisdom of their decisions; however the final action will be made by the people who will live in those decisions after their terms on that Board expire. I recommend more support be given to the thoughts and feelings of those trained to educate our children. We must teach them and administer them. They are trained to educate, to train others to do the same things for which teachers and administrators are not prepared, and would never attempt to dictate.

I love "our town" and the attitude prevalent there regarding the worth dignity of all, with little attention given to the less fortunate among us; however decisions of education policy should primarily be made by those trained to do so, if the welfare of our children down the years is to be best served.

Accordingly, I recommend more support be given to the thoughts and feelings of those trained to educate our children. We must teach them and administer them. They are trained to educate, to train others to do the same things for which teachers and administrators are not prepared, and would never attempt to dictate.

Mr. Farmer, we all know the key to profits in the chicken business is a bigger bird grown for less feed.

Reports are in on the first flocks of birds grown on our BEACON equipment. Outstanding performance is the only way to describe the reports.

One of our integrators wrote up a special report on the significant increase of weight gain and better feed conversion experienced on a local farm that we renovated with BEACON FEED LINES.

The BEACON FEED SYSTEM continues to speak for itself. No wonder BEACON guarantees it for so long, 12 years on FEEDER TUBE, 12 years on AUGER and 6 years on FEED STATION. Interest in our BEACON FEED SYSTEM continues to grow. Don't be left with obsolete equipment that costs you money every day. Come see us and let us install you the FEED SYSTEM that pays for itself and puts extra money in your pocket. BEACON -- Quality equipment with proven performance and competitively priced.

Thoughts on passing as the clock nears midnight...

In this week's edition of the paper there are several All-Star teams listed for both baseball and softball leagues in the city. The coaches vote on these teams and try to pick the very best players in each and every league; however, it is not always easy to pick the "best" in anything, much less sports, and I'm sure that some excellent young players were left off the teams that were just as good as some of those who were chosen. In fact, one player that did make All-Star doesn't mean that the player wasn't good. All it means is that when the coaches voted, they only had room for a certain number of players and they picked the ones they thought were some of the best.

Every single player who pulls on a glove and comes up to bat in a game with people yelling up in the stands is a winner and in my book is always what I would call an "All-Star!"

The 14th annual Elba Softball Classic was held last weekend and when the fog finally lifted around 3:00 a.m. on Sunday morning the championship trophy went to the Andalusia Farmer's Coop-Mack Trucking team, out of Andalusia. The Coop won straight games to make it to the finals undefeated, but had to rally after a loss and after falling behind 19-2 in the final game to take home the trophy.

It had been a long time since the Classic made it past midnight; however, last weekend brought back some old memories of the past tournaments that often lasted almost until sun-up. It was long, but worth the loss of sleep!

When the Elba 13-year-old Babe Ruth All-Stars take to the field next week in Andalusia the team may be the underdog, but they will bring enthusiasm and determination. A total of only 11 players in the 13-year-old age group participated in Babe Ruth this season and only 9 finished the season. You might think that the players wouldn't want to go to the District tournament with so few players, but they have said they are ready and when they compete next week you can be sure that the All-Stars are winners in every sense of the word!

Elba's Anthony Brooks competed in the Alabama-Mississippi All-Star football game recently and made 7 tackles to help the Alabama squad claim a 21-16 win. Brooks was overlooked by most major colleges due to a lack of size, but at the annual battle between the states he showed everyone in attendance that he was major college material and could play with the best. Congratulations, Anthony, on a job well done!

Everyone in the Elba recreation family would like to pass on their deepest sympathies to the family of Weeden Vann, Weeden, who died Saturday in an automobile accident, was a coach in the Slo-Pitch Baseball League, and always displayed sportsmanship and dedication that is often overlooked. He was a great coach and a great person. He was always there before the games, practicing hitting or fielding, and you could tell that he really cared about his son, and all the youngsters involved in the league. All of us in recreation and everyone who knew him will miss Weeden, but will never forget him!

Coffee County Peanut Situation

Assistant County Agent Richard L. Petcher

Our peanuts are doing great. They are rapidly growing and doing a tremendous amount of pegging down. The crop looks good but we all know there are a lot of things that can happen beyond our control during the next few months.

Leaf Spot Spraying:

Some concern is out showing that the flat tip nozzle is just as good as the hollow nozzle. This may be true, however the spray pressure with the flat tip is not quite as high as the hollow cone nozzle. So, if you do have heavy foliage and have weed pressure that may be blocking your spray from getting to your peanuts, I recommend you use the hollow cone as it does spray quite a bit more pressure and you will get better coverage.

If you are having problems with your leaf spot control, there are three things you can do. The first thing is to spray with a 2,4-DB product.

County Agent Sandra Coffey explains Adopt-A-Family, which is being sponsored by the Alabama Home Economics Association to L to R - Mayor Fred Moore, and to Elba High School Home Ec. teachers - Mrs. Ann Dyess and Mrs. Marsha Oggs.

Sandra Coffey Explains Adopt-A-Family

What would you feel like if you returned home and found the remains after muddy waters had just through for 4 days? The devastation is still unbearable for many families.

The grant money has been awarded and we do not have enough resources to begin to make their homes livable. Many are trying to live in dwellings with nothing but gutted structures. What will they do this fall when the temperatures drop?

You help is needed with the Adopt-A-Family program for Elba and surrounding areas. Here's what you can do!

1. Encourage your Sunday School Class, Civic Class, etc. to adopt a family.

2. Write friends and relatives in other areas and tell them about Adopt-A-Family information and encourage them to adopt a family.

3. FURNITURE - The furniture needs are great as most of the furniture in the flooded homes was not salvagable.

4. BUILDING MATERIALS

There is a tremendous need for building materials to rebuild homes and manpower to actually come in and help. Below are some suggestions that will give you ideas on how you might help a flood family by adopting them.

1. MATERIAL SUPPORT

Cards and letters would help boost morale and the spirit of flood families.

2. CLOTHING

Used clothing items have been sent to the Elba areas. These were deeply appreciated, but because of storage and manpower to sort and they were very hard to handle.

3. FURNITURE

The Governor's Office, Alabama home economics association and the City of Elba need your help with this program. For more information, call me at 894-5596 from 8-4:30 monday through friday or at home at 347-9441.

The Diet / Cancer Connection - Can Your Diet Prevent Cancer?

County Agent Angela G. Hughes

Can fiber prevent colon cancer? Can carrots prevent lung cancer? The fact is, while there is no evidence that diet can prevent cancer, some experts believe you can reduce your risk for developing many types of cancer by a combination of lifestyle changes (quitting smoking, for example) and eating a nutritionally sound diet. In fact, research shows your diet may reduce your cancer risk by as much as 35%. The key dietary changes that may be linked with reduced cancer risk are: less total fats, more fiber, and more fresh fruits and vegetables, particularly those rich in Vitamin A, beta-carotene and Vitamin C.

FATS - Limit your intake of dietary fats to no more than 30% of your total daily calories. (Fats have 9 Calories per gram.) Most of the fat in our diet should come from the saturated variety. Saturated fats are primarily found in foods of animal origin, although two vegetable "oils" - coconut and palm - are also highly saturated. Saturated fats are those fats that remain solid at room temperature.

FIBER - Dietary fiber can be either water-soluble or water-insoluble. Water-soluble fiber includes the fiber found in beans, oats and many fruits, while water-insoluble fiber is chaff, bran, hulls, fiber from grain and many vegetables. To reduce your risk, balance your diet to include both forms of fiber. The National Cancer Institute recommends a daily intake of 20-23 grams of fiber per day. Excessive fiber intake can cause pain, gas, diarrhea, constipation, and can interfere with the body's absorption of essential nutrients.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES - Besides being excellent sources of dietary fiber, fresh fruits and vegetables contain many of the vitamins associated with possible reduced cancer risk.

Yogurt, citrus fruits, and whole grains help protect against many cancers, and is found orange vegetables like squash and carrots and dark-green leafy vegetables like spinach. Vitamin C may interfere with the formation of some cancer-causing chemicals and is found in citrus fruits, berries, strawberries, potatoes, and dark-green leafy vegetables as well. Vegetables in the cabbage family - broccoli, cauliflower, brussel sprouts - may also contain cancer-interfering chemicals.

BEST ADVICE

Besides eating less fat and more dietary fiber, fresh fruits, and vegetables, the best advice is to eat a variety of foods that are fresh and/or as close to their "natural" state as possible.

MICROWAVE ACCESSORIES

Consumers who like the idea of microwave cooking but have been dissatisfied with results, will find help in a whole new collection of microwave accessories.

ITEMS

Items such as a vegetable steamer, a microwave maker, a combination hamburger maker/handwich grill, and roaster pan all have been engineered specifically for microwave cooking. The roaster has a special rack to trap juices, creating a roasting method that produces a crisp, moist roast in one-half to one-third the time of a conventional oven.

ALSO NEW

Also new on the market is a microwave coffeemaker designed to brew the coffee at a lower temperature in an automatic drip coffeemakers. The lower the temperature helps to eliminate any bitter taste from the coffee.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Besides being excellent sources of Family Trio Trims Down...

Now it's rocked the whole town!
Guarana & Cellulite join forces!
Up Date Another Special Guarana Cellulite
Success Story

Now it's time for another success story... come to talk about Cathy Summerlin, owner of Bulk Health Foods and Family Health Food Store in Albany, Georgia, has literally rocked the whole town with her ingenious diet plan for quick, but healthy weight loss!

Meet the Summerlin family. They were created by accident by Cathy and her daughter, Stephanie.
About a year ago, Stephanie began taking Extra
Strength Cellulite Energy Factors from America
Health Foods. She lost several pounds without even trying, she learned that Guarana was a natural weight suppressant. In one month, she had dropped 15 lbs. immediately. Cathy had been taking the Cellulite Energy Factors to aid in her weight loss. After her daughter's success, she decided to try both the two products... and WOW! The Summerlin Secret was born!

Soon, the whole family jumped on the Guarana-Cellulite bandwagon! In 4 and one half months, Cathy dropped 42 lbs. Sherri lost 25 lbs.

Stephanie lost 15 lbs. in 1 month.

Back in January of 1990, when the Guarana-Cellulite formula was discontinued, she decided to apply the program to herself.

Since then, she has lost a total of 40 pounds, and reduced her dress size from a 17/18 to an 11/12! Her weight loss has occurred gradually at rates of 2.5 pounds a week, and now she has reached her goal!

Thanks Richeata, for showing us just how well it works!

Mrs. Linda Pittman of Enterprise recently lost 23 lbs. of weight loss in 3 weeks. Kathy Pittman also of Enterprise reports 12 lbs. of weight loss in 3 weeks. Thanks
Laurie and Kathy.
